Your First Draft Grade

Using the writing rubric, calculate your own first draft grade

According to my Peer reviewer, I got a 91%, and I agree with this based on the feedback my reviewer gave me.

What You Did Well

Mention at least three things you accomplished successfully in your paper

- Have a well thought out argument that I can turn into an essay
- Find a reasonable section of the book to focus on

What Needs More Work / Plan For Revision

Identify at least three issues you will address in your revision.

- Clarity and details
- MLA formatting, citing etc
- Tying things back to my main idea more clearly

Your Revised Paper Grade

Once you've finished incorporating the feedback and revising your paper, calculate your final grade.

- I believe there are still minor clarity issues with my paper, but I think most line of reasoning and formatting are completely resolved.
- 98%
